Art Moving West.

Referring to the artistic development in the United States, the Commissioner of Fine Arts for France to the St. Louis Exposition summed up the outlook in the prophecy that it was to the heart of our country that the future must turn for the much-discussed national art.

The deductions made by this distinguished visitor from abroad, it would seem, even now, are being exemplified to a pronounced degree. The trend of today is a shifting of the center of really earnest and serious artistic endeavor from the Atlantic to the great central plain. This is evinced in every department of the fine arts. Among the crafts, the Eastern man will acknowledge the truth of this. In architecture, however, the exponent will not always be so generous, but he will at least admit curiosity, and sometimes interest, concerning achievement in the West. The sturdy, Western type, full of energy, frankly enthusiastic, impatient of restraint, glories in his self-appointed freedom and delights in identifying himself and his expression with his surroundings. Maude Oliver, in Uncle Remus's—The Home Magazine for September.

Dedication Services.

The new buildings of the Hazel Green Academy will be dedicated Saturday, September 12, at 10:30 a. m., and they extend a cordial invitation to all citizens, especially friends of the school, to attend the ceremonies. Prominent C. W. B. M. workers, including the state and national presidents of that worthy christian mission are looking for and will deliver addresses. Bro. Derthick informs us that the two daughters of Mrs. E. L. Ford, who shared with her in the generous gift of $10,000 to the Industrial Building are expected to be present. The management looks forward with pleasure to a happy occasion, and we urge all friends of the school, wherever they may be, who can possibly do so, to attend the dedication and show their appreciation of the work these noble women are doing for our country.

Big Business Venture.

The Graham Bros., who bought of J. T. Day a large tract of oak timber above Lee City last fall, are erecting two of the largest mills ever seen in the mountains to put their product in market. Their system of working is much like the pork slaughter house which a countryman described by saying: "Nothing gets away but the squeal of the pig," as Graham Bros. use every scrap 1x6 inches in making parts for toys. They make chair rungs, backs, rockers, etc., but the main business is wagon parts, such as felloes, plow beams, stocks, &c. The force employed to work this up is necessarily large, and to provide homes for the people employed many houses will be built in addition to their mills and store.

The Ball Game Last Saturday

The game of ball played here Saturday between Hazel Green and Ezel nines resulted in a victory for the home team. Both teams being short of regular players they each drew on the Greenbriar Hooters, Hazel Green taking one and Ezel two from that nine. The full nine innings were played the score standing 12 to 9 in favor of Hazel Green. Then it was proposed that a game be played between Hazel Green and the Hooters, and after five innings Hazel Green was one ahead when the up-river boys gave up the game. All the players did well and it was evident in the Ezel and Hazel Green game that the borrowed man from Greenbriar helped save the home team.

Day an old dilapidated and dented brass kettle which he purchased when he first went to housekeeping, 33 years ago, paying $3.75 for it at the time.
